FutureMusic Announces new version of Maschine

"Once again, Native Instruments has upped the ante on the future of the hardware/software drum machine with the announcement of Maschine MkII, Maschine Mikro MkII and the Maschine 1.8 software update. Dubbed "the new generation of Maschine," both Maschine and Maschine Mikro will receive a major overhaul with new updates to hardware and software, and the addition of the Maschine Stand and colored Custom Kits. But the other announcement, that will have far more reaching effects on work flow and production for any musician vested in the NI Ecosystem, is that Native's excellent Massive software synth has been included in the new Maschine 1.8 update, providing the user with a new arsenal of virtual synth firepower!"
