

Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by shattaproof - 2008/02/05 10:34

Heres a topic starter, hopefully.

Whats everyones favorite part of writing a tune? What do you consider yourself to be expecialy good at? Whats the biggest pain in your balls about it all? :monkeydance:

Speak now bishes :fu:

=====

Re: Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by shattaproof - 2008/02/06 15:33

16 views and no replys.....come on now :cussing:

=====

Re: Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by DJ DC - 2008/02/06 15:59

I could program 303 patterns all day. Making sounds is fun too.

=====

Re: Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by frankedukes - 2008/07/17 08:40

I gotta say I love making drums and subs...still having problems with the arrangements though.

=====

Re: Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by KOSTEK - 2008/07/17 08:58

making sounds is fun. writing a phat beat is a blast mixing down least fun. knowing when to say when :S
hearing a finish product in club just golden

=====

Re:Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by theorize - 2008/09/11 22:32

yeah for songwriting it's gotta be the drums for me... although it's a double edged sword; can get so complex and revisiting an old project can get hairy on that tip.

I actually like sound design much more than songwriting though... I'm trying to get my ass going on a few breaks tunes though... wanna do a massive acid/goa one sometime too.

Lately I've been trying to get the whole mildly distorted bassline thing down, that's been fun.

=====

Re:Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by Stone Snake - 2008/10/16 14:33

Depends what mood i'm in! Sound design can be good geeky fun, finding/recording samples and getting em to sound good is better though.

Arrangement is my favourite when i'm not struggling to find sounds to use. Definitely with Kostek on the mixdown being hard work. Hearing my finished stuff on a club system - close to sex:lol:

=====

Re:Something for you to reply to.....

Posted by PerspectiveMusic - 2008/10/17 04:11

All about the bass people.....lol!

I too have a prob with when to stop though, keep making changes and this and that...

=====