We love outside the box productions and subsequently were immediately drawn to Afghan Headspin's new track Everybody Say. There are two distinct sections to the arrangement, one that has a very marching on the beat feel, and the second that drops to a massive bass line tear out. Moving back and forth between these two sections, Afghan Headspin wheels out an impressive array of drums, vocal fx loops, and silky smooth transitions for a jam that has garnered enthusiastic praise in its promo phase over the past few months.
