One of the best breakbeat tunes that I have heard for a while. Loads of different elements keep the tune moving along at a great pace. Matched with Haggstrom Pittes (the same person) top class production then you just can't go wrong. Proof that breakbeat can still be innovative and interesting. 9/10

Peo De Pitte seems to be a very popular man these days, getting support from breaks, electro and all in between and justly so. Head straight for the Peo De Pitte remix (and Haggstrom is the same person by the way). This sounds like classic old Plumps (they are big fans too!) ie good time funk fuelled party breaks intelligently crafted and well produced. Chunky proper breaks in the intro give way to breaks/house hybrid with bleeps and squeeks aplenty and inventive vocal edits chopping and bopping, this track just doesnt let up! Very good indeed! Yeah! Woho! sees more minimal 4/4 action. Expect great things from Peo soon, you mark my words I tell thee. M8/M8

MIX MAG

Recently Peo De Pitte aka Peo Häggström from the city of Stockholm, Sweden, was our breaks tune of the month. Now he returns with another that'd easily take that title again. His trademark combination of rare groove beats and cutting edge synth action has taken on a dusty warehouse vibe in this one, and it's a killer. 5/5
