If you have an artist section on the site, we can host up to 4 tunes for you, however artist setion and adding of tunes can only be done by administrators at the present time. When tunes are added to a account in the beats area, a link shows up to a player page where the tunes are embedded in a flash player - they can be set to stream only, or stream + download, etc.

kos - i meant are you gonna provide hosting for people to upload unsigned tracks, so they could be streamed from the site instead of pissing around with yousendit etc etc. just thought it would be a nice addition as no one else is doing it. the artist section idea is cool though and this smiley rules :punch:

Yer... That sounds good!

Prehaps members could have links on their profile or a little banner/link under their avatar sayin "Check Me Tunes" for their own work.

All server depending though....
