On Friday 1st June Broken & Uneven will be hosting the official Dimensions Festival Launch Party at a secret London venue that sees the crew behind Outlook Festival add another impressive string to their bow. This Underground Electronic Music event takes places in Croatia's idyllic Fort Punta Christo and the cream of all scenes will take centre stage on what is becoming one of Europe's most talked about partying destinations.

Hosting the main room on the night will be Eglo Records who have been on a roll as of late after recently celebrating their label's third birthday and being responsible for one of 2011's most discerning releases, the Shadows EP by label co-founder Floating Points. He will be spinning his trademark selection of rare Funk and Disco as well as off-kilter House that has seen him inspire crate diggers and vinyl lovers alike. Label-mate Alexander Nut, who's Saturday afternoon slot on Rinse FM has become somewhat of a one-stop shop for the Eglo sound, is known for his unpredictable sets that range from Hip-Hop to House to Broken Beat and beyond whilst Funkineven's futuristic take on House will be a journey through Acid and mercurial Funk. DMZ head honcho Mala will be making a special guest appearance alongside the Eglo camp on the night and based on past performances we can expect nothing but a barrage of unreleased dubs from one of Dubstep's true originators. His well-renowned attention to low-end vibrations and frequencies will be warmly welcomed by our bespoke Sound Services soundsystem so get your earplugs at the ready.

Room Two see's burgeoning warehouse promoters Beat Dimension put forward-thinking Bass/D&B shoulder to shoulder with no-holds barred House/Techno. Enlisting the talents of (recently resurrected R&S Offshoot) Apollo signing Synkro, Exit Records' Indigo and the artist formerly known as Duffstep - Echer to represent. Leeds native Youandewan, who has released on Hypercolour and remixed for the likes of Midland, will also be on hand to lay down his warehouse friendly selection that focuses heavily on the percussive and bass heavy end of House and Bass Music.

Dimensions Launch Party

We are excited to announce that the venue for tonight's party is 'Covert' in Vauxhall. Set under the arches this is the first time that this brand new venue has been used for such a event. Set across two rooms with beautiful exposed brickwork and a balcony spanning both rooms, it's a suitably imitate setting for the launch party.

The full address is:

Covert
65 Albert Embankment
London,
SE1 7TP

A 3 minute walk from Vauxhall Tube / Train / Bus Stations.

There are some important things to remember ahead of tonight:

You must bring a print out of your bar code and e-ticket. No print out, no entry.

We advise arriving before midnight for quick entrance.

Covert is a fully licensed venue with full bar, credit card machines, cloak, cabs etc

There will also be plenty of tickets available on the door.

Thanks and we look forward to seeing you all tonight.

Broken & Uneven.
