Merging dubstep and glitch intensity with funk and classic music from the 30's and beyond, Defunk has surely made a name for himself in the electronic music world. He has helped create the new fresh style of ghettoswing, combining elements of big band and swing music with breaks and hip hop. He has also received support from the biggest names in ghetto funk, and experimented fusing different sounds into new subgenres. He has been released on three different international labels, but holds true that giving his music away for free is the best option. His live performance is always one of a journey. He switches tempos, moods and sounds to fit the time and place, and brings the audience for a ride that explores many facets of bass music. Whether he's mashing up classic songs you grew up with or smashing your face off with new beats and rhythm's, he is guaranteed to make you move!

Lush (Toronto, ON)
djlushtoronto.tumblr.com/

LUSH describes his sound as Jungle Music at 130, 140 and 175 bpm. Sounds crazy? Maybe, but with Lush the single most dominant trend over his 19 years of DJing has always been unbridled passion for the music that he plays. Widely known and respected as a pioneering Jungle/DnB DJ in Canada, the DJ's DJ as he has been frequently called by his peers has been a "student" of the art of DJing and a follower of the Hardcore Continuum from Hardcore thru to Jungle, into Drum & Bass; and forward onto the current genre less mutations and hybrids of Bass music. Whatever style Lush chooses to play, the underlying theme is always music with feeling and soul, with a heavy Junglist leaning and room shattering bass. He approaches it all with the same enthusiasm and razor sharp precision. A true champion of the underground, Lush has always been respected as a DJ who takes risks breaking new music and setting musical trends, but yet somehow putting it together in such a way as to always have the viewpoint of the dance floor on his side throughout. His super technical rolling mixing style has been his trademark though out his career, winning over crowds and other DJ's alike with his high energy puzzle piece mixing. Lush's connection with the people on the dance floor comes from his years of being in raves himself, always out in the crowd taking in all the of the sights, sounds and energy of the music and scene that he loves. The DJ's DJ shows no signs of slowing down anytime soon.

Farbsie Funk (Toronto, ON)
<http://soundcloud.com/farbsiefunk/farbsie-funk-bustin-out-the>

DJ Farbsie, founder of the Make It Funky Collective got deep into funk at Mo' Gravy in london in 1996 prior to that his musical influences were formed in the jam band scene traveling to over 400 shows across North America. Having collected thousands of records over the years in 2000 He first stepped up to the decks and the formative years for the Make It Funky Collective began. In the years to follow Farbsie has been spreading the funk gospel and grooving dancefloors across the country. Fusing funky breaks with motown sounds, hiphop, calypso, reggae, and classic rock, Farbsie continues to push the boundaries of where a dj can take you. Building a journey for the dance floor that will have you smiling, shouting and singing along as you dance the night away.

RoLo (Toronto, ON)
