Posted by JoshChambers - 2013/01/02 19:06

Josh Chance, A.K.A Josh Chambers, has been DJing since 1999 but he only started producing full time in mid 2011. He currently lives in Southern California where he has held residencies in Los Angeles at clubs Orion and Qtopia. Before moving to Southern California Josh was living in North Carolina and played clubs from Florida to New York every week bringing his brand of booty bass to every speaker he could find.

Josh is know for his bass heavy beats mixed in with some booty flavor. One listen of his original tracks and it should come as no surprise he has been inspired by artists such as Krafty Kuts, Stanton Warriors, Keith Mackenzie and Deekline. He always brings his upbeat bass sounds with pumping subs that will leave your ears ringing for days.
