

HOLY ZEUS BATMAN!!!

I'm sneaking some internet time. Those of you who know the oilfield business know that it goes up and down at times. Well right now my yard is up up up. I still have yet to get a chance to unpack my studio equipment because I have been working 16 - 18 hour days every day. I know it is going to be like this for the next 2 weeks at least, so we can get ahead 150,000 feet of pipe in front of the rigs that are calling for it. It has even gotten to the point where I have bought a cot and have it set up in my office. Tell you one thing, it gets REALLY quiet and dark out here at night....

I am not sure how long the hours are going to keep up like this but I am going to try to sneak on here a little more during the days. The internet is not reaching to the inspection unit anymore so I can't jump on while I'm in there. It is just going to be hit and miss while I am in the office.

I will keep you all posted on the developments as I get them.

Well the way it looks right now. I am going to be able to make today a little bit of a shorter day, as long as the guys will work hard today. That means I will get to go home and do some work on the place. Hopefully get some space cleared out in the studio to at least put my desk back together. I am going to give everyone tomorrow off as well that way I have even more time to do some things around the house. Hopefully I will be able to put a dent into tornado alley.
