

Glen Nicholls is better known as Future Funk Squad - DJ, producer and remixer, based in London.

His work has included a wide portfolio of crushing remixes; Nine Inch Nails, The Prodigy, UNKLE, The Crystal Method, Hybrid, Device, White Lies, Stanton Warriors and Sia to name but a few.

Three albums of solid audio menace further reinforce the Future Funk Squad arsenal - 2006's "Audio Damage", the stomping 2009 "Disorders Of Skill", and its brother-in-arms remix album, "Re-Orders Of Skill".

The forthcoming release "Darker Days" is a titanic slab of breakbeat armageddon, poised to show the world just how little time is left. Savage electronic warfare conducted over the space of 12 tracks, Future Funk Squad orchestrates an assault on the beats you think you know, and casts them into the dark days ahead with superlative skill. Relentless, tectonic and apocalyptic, Darker Days is due for release on May 12th, and hell is following with it.
